MUSICAL TREAT LAST NIGHT

The Misses Loy and Mr. Steiner Gave a Splendid Concert

A good sized audience heard the splendid concert given at the Presbyterian church last night by Miss Pearl Loy, violinist, Miss Fern Loy, cellist, and Mr. Robert Steiner, pianist. The audience was composed mostly of Chanute musical talent and they were enthusiastic in their praise and applause, calling the players back after each number as long as they would respond. Most of the numbers given were heavy music but was played with great depth of feeling as well as sure technic. The trio appeared in ensemble work as well as in solo. The program was of unusual interest and of great variety. The three are students at the Winfield Conservatory of Music. The Misses Loy are the guests of their uncle, H. W. Loy, while in the city.

BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

John Allison, who by Captain Walker was charged with having stolen about $33 worth of hay from his barn, was tried in justice court yesterday before F. M. Groome. The case was commenced at 2 o'clock and at 5:15 Allison was bound over to the district court.

The hay was gone from the barn of Walker when he returned from a visit, and he says that Allison stole it. Allison says that he had bought the hay from the Captain and that he was simply taking home what he had purchased. The hay was taken from the barn in broad daylight and was witnessed by some of Mr. Walker's neighbors. A number of witnesses were heard and considerable testimony given.

STREET SANITATION ORDINANCE PASSED

The Automobile Ordinance on Second Reading—Lights for all Moving Cars

The ordinance repealing certain sections of the automobile ordinance in regard to the lighting of cars was placed on second reading at the meeting of the commissioners. That part of the ordinance repealed relates to the lighting of cars on Main street. The old ordinance read that cars on Main street while the White Way is on need not be lighted. This was construed to mean either moving cars or those standing still. The amendment makes it necessary to have lights on all moving cars after nightfall.

The ordinance relative to the care and cleanliness of the streets was placed on second reading and then advanced to third and final passage. The ordinance conforms to the state law on this subject. A clean-up day, sometime during the month of April of each year, is provided for and a general house-cleaning will be given the town wherever dirt and filth has accumulated. It will be necessary to provide a brick, cement or similar receptacle for the burning of trash and litter.
